

If there's a song

If there's a song inside your heart,
Just let it sing, It needs to soar;
And if there's love inside your heart,
give it away, you'll find some more.

You'll hear each song you sing return to you,
and love you give away will burn a few old aching hurts
you want to throw away.
So let your song and love be known no one ^{can deny} can make it all alone.

And if your hand's are empty hands, Oo-
Reach over here, put it in mine;
If there's a road you'd like to take,
I'll go with you. We'll take our time,

For love and understanding need to grow.
There's so much about each other that we need to know,
to make this world the place we'd like to be.
Let's put our hands together friend, And we will find a better end.
